Part 1: category of rights

In this Part 1 of the Book of Reference the rights to which reference is made in the following table under the column headed "Extent, description and situation of the land or right" are:

Category 1 - roads

The right for the undertaker and all persons authorised on its behalf (with or without appropriate machinery, vehicles, apparatus and plant for such purposes):

- i. To inspect and survey the land, which will include excavations and the carrying out of soil tests;
- ii. To lay down, install, adjust, alter, construct, use, maintain, repair, renew, inspect, remove and replace up to three underground cables (together with such telephone signalling and fibre optic lines and other apparatus as is ancillary to the purposes of transmitting electricity along such cables (which, with the underground cables, are collectively referred to below as "the cables")) and to take such steps to protect the cables as are reasonable;
- iii. At its own expense and in a good and workmanlike manner to remove trees and bushes and the roots thereof and to fell and lop trees and to remove any thing which would if not removed, obstruct or interfere with the lay down, installation, adjustment, alteration, construction, use, maintenance, repair, renewal, inspection, removal or replacement of the cables;
- iv. To use horizontal directional drilling, where appropriate, for the installation of the cables;
- v. To install aerial marker posts and to keep such aerial marker posts in place for the duration of the installation, use, repair, replacement or maintenance of the cables;
- vi. To lay down, install and use electric cables, telephone signalling cables, fibre optic cables and ancillary equipment and other conducting media, together with conduits or pipes for containing the same, for use when any of the cables are faulty; and
- vii. To make good any damage caused in connection with the exercise of these rights.

Category 2 - footpaths

- i. To inspect and survey the land, which will include excavations and the carrying out of soil tests;
- ii. To lay down, install, adjust, alter, construct, use, maintain, repair, renew, inspect, remove and replace up to three underground cables (together with such telephone signalling and fibre optic lines and other apparatus as is ancillary to the purposes of transmitting electricity along such cables (which, with the underground cables, are collectively referred to below as "the cables")) and to take such steps to protect the cables as are reasonable;
- iii. At its own expense and in a good and workmanlike manner to remove trees and bushes and the roots thereof and to fell and lop trees and to remove any thing which would if not removed, obstruct or interfere with the lay down, installation, adjustment, alteration, construction, use, maintenance, repair, renewal, inspection, removal or replacement of the cables;
- iv. To use horizontal directional drilling, where appropriate, for the installation of the cables;
- v. To install aerial marker posts and to keep such aerial marker posts in place for the duration of the installation, use, repair, replacement or maintenance of the cables;
- vi. To lay down, install and use electric cables, telephone signalling cables, fibre optic cables and ancillary equipment and other conducting media, together with conduits or pipes for containing the same, for use when any of the cables are faulty; and
- vii. To make good any damage caused in connection with the exercise of these rights.

Category 3 - access road and inspection

The right for the undertaker and all persons authorised on its behalf (with or without appropriate machinery, vehicles, apparatus and plant for such purposes):

- i. To inspect and survey the land, which will include excavations and the carrying out of soil tests;
- ii. To construct, use, maintain, repair, renew, inspect, remove and replace access roads (including landscaping areas and passing places) to be used in connection with the lay down, installation, adjustment, alteration, construction, use, maintenance, repair, renewal, inspection, removal or replacement of the cables and, where appropriate, the landscaping and the new connection bays within the National Grid substation containing isolation switchgear and electrical equipment for the connection of the export cable to the transmission network;
- iii. To adjust, alter, use, maintain, repair, renew, inspect, remove and replace up to three underground cables (together with such telephone signalling and fibre optic lines and other apparatus as is ancillary to the purposes of transmitting electricity along such cables (which, with the underground cables, are collectively referred to below as "the cables")) and to take such steps to protect the cables as are reasonable;
- iv. At its own expense and in a good and workmanlike manner to remove trees and bushes and the roots thereof and to fell and lop trees and to remove any thing which would if not removed, obstruct or interfere with the construction, use, maintenance, repair, renewal, inspection, removal and replacement of the access roads;
- v. To construct fences and keep such fences in place for the duration of the installation, repair, replacement or maintenance of the cables;
- vi. To install aerial marker posts and to keep such aerial marker posts in place for the duration of the installation, use, repair, replacement or maintenance of the cables;
- vii. To lay down, install and use electric cables, telephone signalling cables, fibre optic cables and ancillary equipment and other conducting media, together with conduits or pipes for containing the same, for use when any of the cables are faulty;
- viii. To maintain, repair, renew, inspect, remove and replace routes for access in connection with the lay down, installation, adjustment, alteration, construction, use, maintenance, repair, renewal, inspection, removal or replacement of the cables; and
- ix. To make good any damage caused in connection with the exercise of these rights.
